COMING ATTRACTIONS

"The Ringmaster" Tomorrow Night. One of the most successful of modern plays, "The Ringmaster," will receive its initial production at the Duncan opera house tomorrow night.

The Messrs. Shubert, who are responsible for the production of this fascinating play, have discovered in Miss Olive Porter a playwright of rare ability. They have established at the Bijou theatre in Brooklyn a stock company, where all plays which have a possible chance of success are given an elaborate production.

It was here that "The Ringmaster" was first tried, and immediately approved by the press and public. Miss Porter was formerly employed as a correspondent to one of Wall Street's leading brokerage firms, and it was from the correspondence of these giants of speculative finance that she gained sufficient material to write this most meritorious play. The story is that of a financial battle waged between Hillary, who is designated as "the ringmaster" of Wall Street, a man of unscrupulous principal, and LeBaron, a young man perfectly honest, who is in love with Hillary's daughter. She returns his love, but declines his offer of marriage, because he lives a life of luxuriant idleness; she endeavors to persuade him with a girlish freshness and a charming naivete, that wins the hearts of the audience. She is coy, petite and natural as a wild flower.

The play of "Texas" is a comedy-drama of ranch life in the sunny southwest with dashing cowboys, bluff ranch owners, a vulpine Mexican half-breed and members of the English aristocracy as its chief characters.

"Texas" is not a "wild and woolly" melodrama as has been presumed, but a clean, natural, healthy play, virile in its situations, brilliant in its comedy and of absorbing interest. The leading male role of Jack Dallam in love with Little Texas, is in the hands of Mr. Harlan Fox, a young romantic actor, who plays the heroic cowboy with a dash and manly vigor.

"Texas" is presented by an excellent company of New York players and it is superbly mounted with realistic scenery, while every accessory from the hide covered furniture to the well sweep, chairs, quilts and stoves, are authentic, and were purchased at the scene of the play.

to a life of speculative activity. He finally agrees and opens an office on Wall Street, and is asked to join forces with Hillary in putting through a gigantic deal.

LeBaron discovers that Hillary's motives are dishonest, and refuses to have any hand in the transaction. Hillary agrees to drop the deal providing LeBaron will keep the nature of his intended swindle a secret.

LeBaron agrees, gathers a party of friends, on his yacht and sets sail. Hillary engages passage on an Atlantic liner and starts for England. A wireless message to Hillary from his confederates is oddly intercepted on the yacht by LeBaron, revealing to LeBaron the fact that Hillary is pushing the deal to a close, notwithstanding his promise to drop it. LeBaron immediately sets sail for New York, and the fight for supremacy begins.

This leads to the climax of the third act which brings down the curtain amidst thunders of applause. Bright flashes of comedy permeates the play and the love interest is not forgotten in this truly wonderful story which may be classed as one of the great theatrical successes of the season.

"Texas," a Comedy Drama.

The delightful comedy drama, "Texas," which comes to the Duncan Opera house Thursday, November 11, does not derive its name from the big southern state, but is named after little "Texas West," the leading feminine role of the play.

"Little Texas" is one of the most delightful girl characters ever drawn by the pen of a modern dramatist. She is young, winsome and lovable, one of the sweetest and most girlish characters, that can be imagined. Miss Emily Clifton, not yet out of her teens, plays the role of "Texas"

ers, and above all, a play with a plot of intense human interest, are found in "The Girl Question," the entrancing musical play which comes to the Duncan Opera house on Wednesday night, November 17.

The play is along the lines and is in fact a successor to "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," the musical play which has jammed every theatre in which it has played since its run of 463 performances in Chicago.

The fifty prettiest chorus girls who have ever been seen in one show are found in "The Girl Question," as are also the famous "1,000 Beauty Broilers," the latter being the ten little girls who dance with an abandon of emotion and enthusiasm and an amount of ginger which has never been equaled.

The plot of "The Girl Question" reveals a story of every day life which is of real human interest, though broken up in its developments at moments to allow for the introduction of songs and dances. The production was staged by that past master in the exploitation of dramatic scenes, beautiful stage pictures and graceful dances, George Marion, the producer of the "Merry Widow," "A Stubborn Cinderella," "The Prince of Pilsen," etc. The songs include "Good-bye Pal," "I Hate to Work on Monday," "O, Gee, Be Sweet to Me, Kid," "Waltz Me Around 'Till I'm Dreamy," "When Eyes Like Yours Look Into "The Girl Question," the latest of the series of unique musical comedy entertainments which Adams, Hough & Howard have furnished the LaSalle theatre, Chicago, will be seen here after a long run in the Windy City. It is a rushing, bustling, jolly, unconventional sort of play with snap and action in every line and situation, and those who have enjoyed its predecessors, "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," will surely be pleased with it.

A Religious Author's Statement
Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Red Cross Drug Co. and O. G. Croup Cured and a Child's Life Saved

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to that of the thousands who have been benefited by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My child, Andrew, when only three years old, was taken with a severe attack of croup, and thanks to the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy his life was saved and today he is a robust and healthy boy," says Mrs. A. Coy, Jr., of San Antonio, Texas. This remedy has been in use for many years. Thousands of mothers keep it at hand, and it has never been known to fail. For sale by all dealers.
